To Whom it may concern,

I have known Anne Bennett – Interior Designer professionally for over twenty or so years years, when she produced a dynamic colour scheme for several small residential apartments developments in the Cronulla (NSW) CBD for a mutual client .

As a colleague in the design industry I have successfully collaborated on many projects with Anne for numerous clients on a range of project types.

The myriad of possibilities in the harmonizing of colours, materials and textures; selection of appliances and fixtures, etc. for often discerning clientele is often a minefield of potential and actual difficulties. This requires a delicate balance of concordant, exuberant and appropriate design solutions as well as budget considerations.

I have found Anne to be most successful in this respect and more particularly diligent in seeking the best possible options and practical selections for each individual client.

Often this diligence results in considerable savings for the client and is indicative of the passion to source the best selection for each client.

Anne's colour selections and design ideas also provide for exciting solutions not often imagined by my clients with an equally enthusiastic result. Anne also has the ability to simplify an interior layout or external scheme for maximum effect.

Anne provides a very personal, professional service in a very much 'hands on' manner; which in the residential field is of paramount importance to my clients. It is usually a delicate and complex process, particularly involving individual client's homes.

These attributes assist in my design solutions and ultimate presentation of the building project overall, and of course, the satisfaction of the client.
